Improve Productivity and Save Money with Flat Rate IT Services

Think you can't afford an IT consultant or technology company? Businesses can experience great financial savings when they use a fixed rate technology solution through a Managed Services provider (MSP). Your IT needs are covered under a single, flat fee each month. You can plan for the expense better when you aren't hit with surprise repair bills, while enjoying the benefits of reduced downtime, network monitoring 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and 365 days a year, and having a dedicated IT department working for you to prevent issues before they become major problems for your organization.

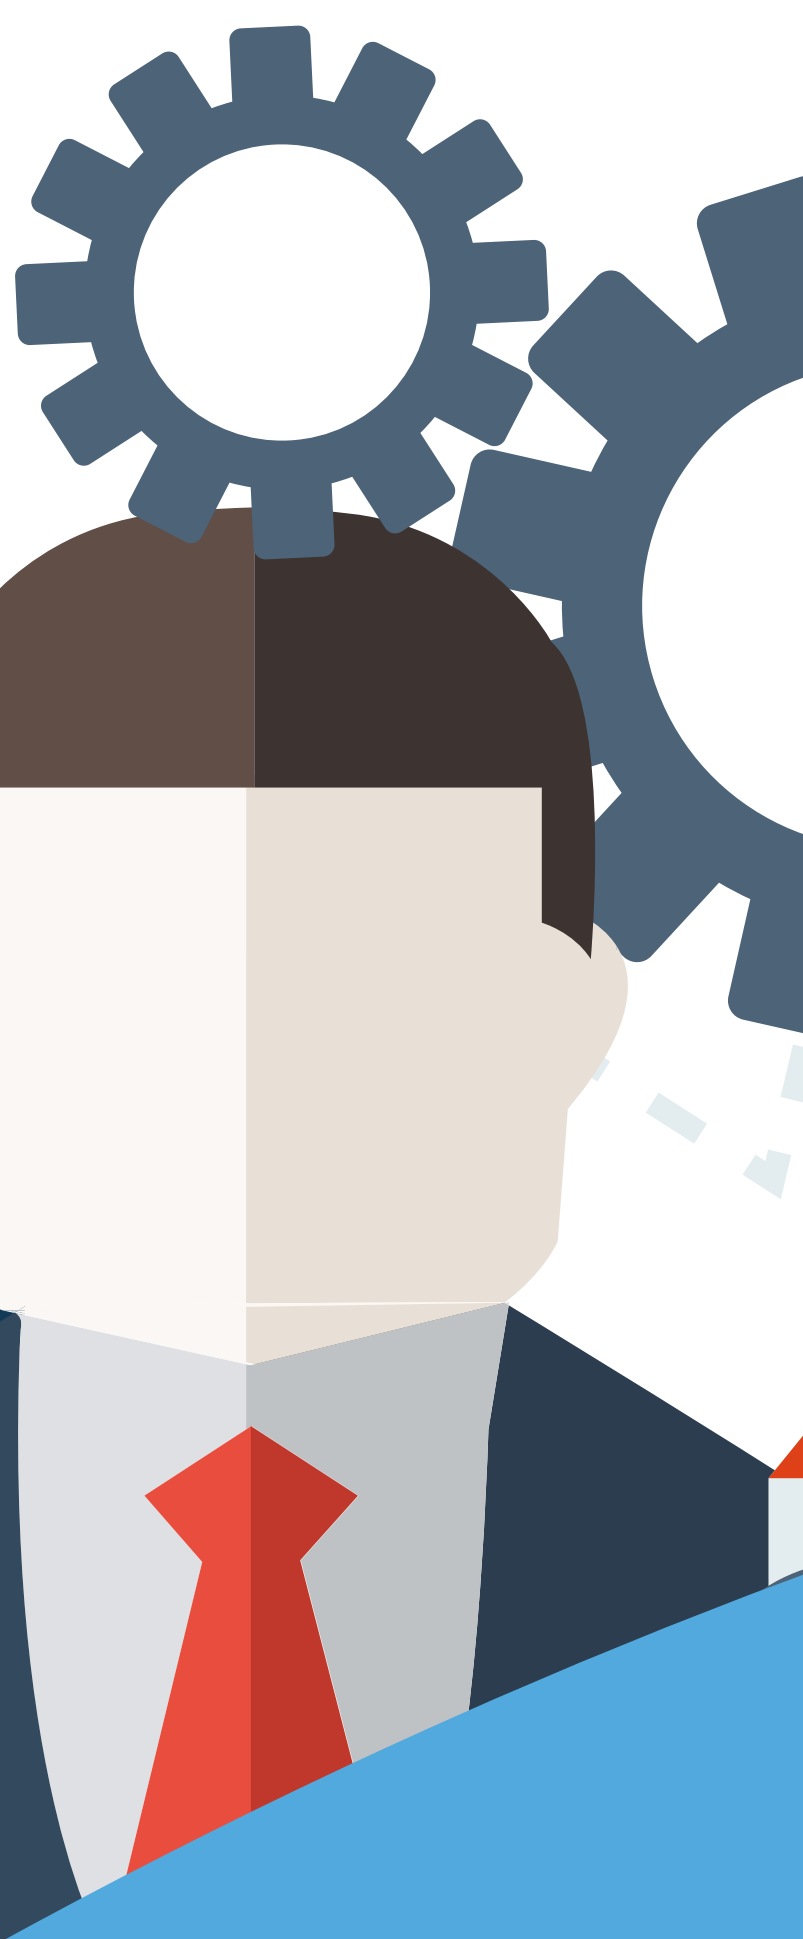

When you pay by the hour for IT consultants you end up paying more and losing productivity while you wait for things to get diagnosed and fixed. Under a flat rate IT model, MSP's become partners with their clients. It is in the best interest of a flat rate IT provider to keep the network running to reduce their own expenses for service delivery – and this creates a partnership where both the business and the MSP profit when technology works the way it should.

Understanding Managed Services/Flat Rate IT Solutions

We offer a flat rate IT solution, Managed Services, designed to support law offices and businesses with their technology needs:

- Proactive - stop trying to fix things after they break and eliminate the issue before it becomes a major problem for your organization.
- Flat, monthly rate – you can budget for IT costs instead of being surprised with every repair bill.

“Your IT needs are covered under a single, flat fee each month.”

- 24/7 Support – support when you need it but without the payroll costs of an internal IT department.
- Increased productivity - your employees will return to their job duties instead of trying to make their technology work.
- All IT solutions covered - your networks, software, servers, and hardware.
- Law Office Support – coverage from your law office right into the court room.

Reduce or Eliminate Need for an Internal IT Department

Having a full-time IT department or staff is just out of reach financially for many business owners. But, in order to grow your business, you need technology that will support your business operations. The way around this catch-22 situation is through a managed IT solution that handles your IT needs for a fixed, monthly rate.

Become More Competitive

Larger companies with more money to spend almost always have the competitive edge over a smaller company with a tighter budget. With Flat Rate IT solutions, you can gain a competitive edge with IT solutions that support your growing business needs and technology that eliminates downtime while improving productivity.

As a leading managed service provider, we remove the expense and need for an internal IT department or employee on payroll, and provide IT services and support for a flat fee. Instead of troubleshooting your technology problems, you can now focus on growing and running your business.

“...you need technology that will support your business operations.”
